

Kelsey Mearman

Education- Bachelor of Science in Exercise Science and Dance from Palm Beach Atlantic University. Currently pursuing a Master of Education in Learning, Diversity, & Urban Studies from Vanderbilt University.

Teaching Experience- Teaching field experience in dance and academics since 2018.

Are you left/Right Handed? Right.

Are you an Extrovert or Introvert? Split introvert/extrovert.

Age Preference- All ages.

Level Preference- Beginner and intermediate levels.

Favorite Series/Method- Personalized learning methods.

Dance/Movement Curriculum- Classical curriculums.

At-Risk Teaching Abilities- I have taught in diverse classrooms with varying exceptionalities requiring differentiation in teaching methods.

A Note from Your Teacher...

I am so excited to join this dance journey with your student. I have always been passionate about sharing my love for education and movement through the wonderful art of dance. I have taught students of all ages and I am looking forward to crafting a personalized plan for the class to ensure that each student enjoys his/her experience and has lots of fun through learning more about the art of dance.

About the Teacher...

Kelsey is an incoming graduate student at Vanderbilt University pursuing her M.Ed. She was born in Miami, FL and completed all of her education in West Palm Beach, FL. She has been dancing since she was four years old and trained in ballet, jazz, tap, hip-hop, modern, lyrical, pointe, and acrobatics. She participated in the King's Academy Conservatory of the Arts of Dance during her last two years of high school. Kelsey also enjoys weight lifting, playing tennis, and reading. Prior to her recent move to Nashville, Kelsey was previously a fitness instructor, children's ministry program assistant and teacher, elementary classroom assistant, and a gym building manager. Kelsey contributed to opening a fine arts program at a church where she was a dance coach for middle and high school students. A fun fact about Kelsey is that she assisted the Miami Marlins in their spring training by assisting the athletic trainers in performing fitness assessments. Kelsey is very passionate about creatively incorporating various learning styles to ensure that each student feels welcomed and accepted by feeling included in the curriculum. She is excited to provide a space in which students can explore fun dance movement and worship the Lord through movement.

