

Jiana Kevilus

Education- Bachelor's of Music Classical Vocal Performance from Belmont University

Teaching Experience- Teaching since 2025

Instrument(s)- voice, piano

Interests- When I'm not performing in musicals or operas, I love to spend time outdoors! I love hiking, camping, fishing and kayaking, and it is on my bucket list to visit every National Park. I also love doing arts and crafts in my free time.

Are you left/Right Handed? Right handed

Are you an Extrovert or Introvert? Extrovert

Age Preference- Any

Level Preference- Beginner to advanced voice, beginner piano

Favorite Series/Method- Bel canto is my preferred vocal method, but I am open to what works best for the student

Dance/Movement Curriculum- N/A

At-Risk Teaching Abilities- I spent a year teaching lessons to low-income students at W.O. Smith Music School. I find it important to be conscious of and attentive to the unique needs of each student. As someone with a learning disability myself, I understand that there are different methods that are best for different students, and strive to ensure every student feels supported.

A note from your teacher...

Whether music is a passion or a hobby for your student, I am so excited to share with them this artform that I have a deep love and care for. I believe that my experience brings a unique blend of technical training and fun to the learning setting. It is important for young singers and players to grow in their understanding of music theory, feel comfortable and healthy as a performer, and to have fun! I hope that in addition to enriching your student's life with a strong musical education, that I can also help them grow in their confidence in themselves and their instrument.

About the teacher...

Jiana Kevilus is a classically trained soprano born and raised in San Antonio, TX. She moved to Nashville in 2021 to earn her Bachelors of Music from Belmont University and has continued to grow her career and passion for music here. While in University, she sang with various ensembles including Bel Canto chorus and Opera Theatre in both ensemble and principal capacities. Jiana also performed two years in a row as an auditioned soloist for the Keith B. Moore Classical Singers Recital. She has also performed locally in several musicals and operettas, and currently sings as a soprano one in the Nashville Symphony Chorus. Some of her favorite credits include Amalia in "She Loves Me" and Hansel in the opera "Hansel and Gretel." When she isn't doing music, Jiana loves playing board games with friends and spending time outdoors.
